This weekly (selected, non-shadowed weeks) seminar takes place during the official semester time; the participation is obligatory for all master and PhD students of APC (talks and attendance) and highly recommended for postdoctoral scientists of APC (attendance).

The seminar will be conducted in the Journal Club format, so that the participants should give a talk on an interesting publication or a series of closely related publications, related or not necessarily related to their particular project. The participants who will leave the group during or immediately after the semester may, alternatively, speak about their own projects or give a test talk for their examination.

Time: Tuesday, 13:00 – 14:30.
Place: seminar room 211+211a, INF 253
Admission: according to the 3G rule

A presentation should generally not exceed 20 min (15 min is recommended). 5-10 min are planned for questions and comments. The language is English.

The speakers should take care of setting everything in few minutes advance of the seminar. It is of advantage to start and conduct the seminar punctually.
